Nationals Drop Series to New York—Win and Lose in Double-Header

GET EVEN BREAK WITH NEW YORK

Nationals Take First Game of Double-Header, 8 to 7, But Lose Second, 1 to 4.

SEVERAL PITCHERS USED IN THE OPENING CONTEST

Twirlers of Both Clubs Batted Hard. Errors Are Cause of the Defeat.

BY J. ED GRILLO.

NEW YORK, July 3.—After battling for eleven innings to win the first game the Nationals lost the second before the first inning was over, two runs coming as the result of a hit, a couple of walks and an error by Neff.

The first game was a splendid exhibition, in which the locals tied the score with a home run in the ninth and the visitors won it with a similar drive in the eleventh inning. Griffith used four pitchers in this struggle. Boehling started, but did not last long, and Ayers also was driven from the box. Gallia went a part of the route, but when the Nationals got into the lead Johnson finished. The Yankees used three twirlers. Warhop did not last through the first inning, McHale taking his place, and he was chased for Cottrell.

During the latter part of the second game there were seven misplays behind Johnson, which undoubtedly had much to do with his defeat, though he did not seem to feel at home on the high mound. There was a crowd of 21,000 paid admissions in attendance.

Takes Eleven Innings
To Win First Game

The Nationals won the first game, but it took them eleven innings to do it. Home runs cut a figure. Peckinpaugh tied the score with two out in the ninth and McBride won it with a home run in the eleventh. Johnson pitched the final inning and struck out two of the three batters to face him. The Yankees fell on Boehling in the fourth; with one out Pipp popped up a fly to right, which fell in the seats and netted him a home run. Cook walked and, after Hartzell had died out, Boehling hit a legitimate home run to right field, scoring Cook ahead of him and making the Yankees' total three. In the first the Griffins got under way right from the outset, scoring four runs in the opening inning. Moeller started by hitting to right for a base. Foster followed with a double to left. Moeller taking third. Shanks grounded to Mabel, which sent Moeller to second; Neff's fly to left sent Gandil home.

Brown Is Hit Hard. In the fifth the Griffins jumped on Brown. Boehling opened with a hit. Moeller sacrificed and Foster, Shanks and Milan singled. Gandil was hit by a pitched ball, sending Foster home. Boehling started to steal home when Neff hit to Brown, Shanks scoring. Milan also tried to score, but was nailed at the plate.

In the second half of the fifth, after Cree, batting for Brown, had singled, Ayers, on high's grounder, and Ayers took Peckinpaugh's sacrifice was thrown to Foster, who muffed, and the Nationals scored. Peckinpaugh was taken out and Gallia took his place. Cook popped up to Henry and Gallia fanned Hartzell.

In the eleventh inning McBride dropped a fly into the left field seats, winning the game. Score: Nationals, 8; Yankees, 1.

First Inning Decides
the Second Contest

The second game was virtually decided in the very first inning. Johnson pitched the final inning and struck out two of the three batters to face him. The Yankees fell on Boehling in the fourth; with one out Pipp popped up a fly to right, which fell in the seats and netted him a home run. Cook walked and, after Hartzell had died out, Boehling hit a legitimate home run to right field, scoring Cook ahead of him and making the Yankees' total three. ## Holds Closed Regatta.

Montgomery Sycamore Island Club Has Interesting Contests. An interesting closed regatta was held yesterday afternoon by the Montgomery Sycamore Island Canoe Club on its course in front of the island. The most exciting race was that of the mixed doubles, won by Miss Letta Hartell and George Schlacht, who captured first place by only six inches over Miss Louise Darcy and William U. Handy. The third and fourth canoes to cross the line, paddled by Miss Viola Mallet and William Conboy and Miss Gertrude Schlacht and W. J. Davis, Jr., respectively, were close up with the leaders, and the judges had a hard time arriving at their decision.

NOT TO PLAY SHORT

Jack Barry Likely to Work at Second for Boston.

IS PRAISED BY CARRIGAN

Red Sox's Manager Thinks He Has Done Well to Obtain Former Athletics' Star.

Special Dispatch to The Star.

BOSTON, July 3.—It is not Manager Bill Carrigan's intention to use Jack Barry, the star shortstop, purchased from Connie Mack yesterday, at short, for the present, at least. Carrigan figures that Everett Scott's showing at short this season has been wonderful, and Janvyn's fielding and hitting since Scott has been out of the game with a bad ankle could not be improved much. Bill thinks that Barry would look pretty good on second and that he probably will try him out at the key-stone sack, alternating with Wagner. Barry got into the second game today against his old team mates for a part of the game and handled himself very well at second.

Manager Carrigan said tonight: "Barry will be a very handy man to have around. If anything happens to any of the infield, why, I'll have him ready to shoot right in. I consider Jack a great player and I think we made a tenacious in securing him from Mack. No, Barry will not be played at short for the present. He may go in at second, alternating with Wagner. You know we have quite a list of double-headers on our hands and there will be plenty of work for everybody."

WINS 300-MILE RACE. Rickenbacher Takes Big Auto Event at Sioux City. SIOUX CITY, Iowa, July 3.—Eddie Rickenbacher, winner of last year's race, finished first in the 300-mile auto contest today, leading all the way. Rickenbacher made 74.7 miles an hour. Eddie O'Donnell was a close second, flying across the tape less than two laps behind Rickenbacher.

YANKEES TAKE DECISIVE GAME
AND GET FIRST-DIVISION BERTH

Loss of Second Half of the Double-Header Throws Griffith's Team Back in Fifth Place—Other Gossip.

By J. ED GRILLO.

NEW YORK, July 3.—With the Nationals unable to get better than an even break in the double-header of today, the team has relinquished its hold on fourth place and is once more holding down fifth position in the race, while the Yankees have quite a comfortable lead in the first division. It was, perhaps, fortunate that the first game was a victory for the Nationals, for after gaining what seemed a comfortable lead they were not only tied up, but had to go eleven innings before they could win it.

There was little to the second game after the first inning had been played, for in this round the Yankees scored a couple of runs, and they were sufficient to bring victory. Johnson was not at his best. He is always at a disadvantage here because of the high pitching mound, and his support was the worst ever given a pitcher. Douglas Neff went all to pieces and had four errors, most of which were costly, and some of the other members of the Griffins erred enough to bring the total number of misplays up to seven, in front of which no pitcher could have won.

Six games remain to be played in the east during the three days in Boston. There will be a morning and afternoon game tomorrow, and then there will be a pair of double-headers for Tuesday and Wednesday, before the trip west will be begun.

Bert Gallia pitched magnificent ball after he got into the first game in every inning, but the ninth, when he made a glaring mistake, which came very near to beating the Nationals. He had two men out at this juncture and Peckinpaugh up. He had two strikes on the Yankees' shortstop and three balls when he deliberately grooved the ball to Pipp. Peckinpaugh hit into the left field seats and the score was tied. It is not safe in a close game to give grounds to take any chances. With the score close most anything may happen by means of the fluke home runs which are possible, so that Gallia realized when it was too late he had taken too long a chance with Peckinpaugh.

Douglas Neff had a sorry day. He seemed unable to get himself untangled on most of the grounds he hit into his territory and as a result he had four errors in the second game, all of which were more or less costly. It was pitiful to see a game fooled away but there was no way to prevent it.

John Henry had a hard time holding Johnson's delivery. The fact that he caught both games may have had some effect on his work in the second game, for he seemed pretty well fatigued. Several times the ball got through his mitt and this, too, helped the Yankees to run. In all, Johnson did not have a fair chance to show his real worth. In the first game he pitched the final inning and struck out two of the three men to face him. That was his shirkieth consecutive scoreless inning, but he did not get any further, for he was scored on in the very first inning of the second game.

Gandil again hit in bad luck. He drove the ball out hard almost every game he faced Caldwell, but he could not get it safe. Hartzell robbed him.

R. N. Williams of Harvard was the winner of the men's singles, defeating George M. Church of Princeton in four sets: 7-5, 6-3, 2-6, 8-6. This match was stopped in the middle of the fourth set for two hours while the courts were being dried.

FANS SAID TO BE DESERTING MACK

Athletics' Followers Think Great Machine Was Deliberately Torn Asunder.

REFUSED BIG INCREASES IN SALARY TO HIS STARS

Connie Now a Fallen Idol—Will He Come Back by Building Another Great Team?

Special Dispatch to The Star.

PHILADELPHIA, July 3.—Thousands of fans were astounded today at the wait put forth by Connie Mack, erstwhile idol of fandom, in which he sets forth, through the medium of an afternoon newspaper, the reason why he scattered throughout the country his famous pitching staff and shot to pieces his famous one-hundred-thousand-dollar infield, giving full credit to the Federal League's 42-centimeter guns.

"Why," said one of the 18,000 fans seated in the grandstand at Broad street and Huntingdon avenue, while the Phillies were wallowing the world champion Braves, "there's nothing to it; more than that, Mack is getting back to the old days when we faithful ones supported him for years while he built up a team from a bunch of kids. These same kids made it possible to build the magnificent base ball testimonial known as Shibe Park. Yet when salaries began to soar 'Connie' commenced to wobble. Federal League, nothing!"

Lost Much Confidence. Another dyed-in-the-wool fan, one of the most prominent sporting good men in the city, commented as follows: "Now, who ever could possibly accuse Connie Mack of being caught napping when the team began to slip in 1914? There were no signs of slipping till the Braves mauled the confidence out of them."

"Whoever could imagine a man of Eddie Plank's caliber proving disloyal to Mack? Why, when the announcement was made that he had turned Plank, Bender and Coombs loose it was a solar plexus, but what has happened since has simply driven thousands of fans away from Shibe Park. This is shown by the attendance and it will be years before they will be won back. Every fan loves a winner, but a true sportsman becomes disgusted when a simon pure derby winner is deliberately put out of commission."

The fans decided every base ball fan in Philadelphia—Connie Mack a quitter—the man who has been the very personification of the rugged stick-to-itiveness. The idol has fallen, or rather has let himself drop. Sporting writers support the opinion that Mack is being driven out of the disintegration of the Athletic machine—that it was deliberate on the part of Connie Mack to crash the team and mention facts of happenings at Shibe Park to bear out the "indoor talk."

Stars Refused Increases. The start of the break-up came last August when Eddie Collins and Baker demanded more money and Mack flatly refused.
